room, and a large gilt basket filled with lilies hung against the long mirror at one end of the room.

The mantels were banked with ferns, sweet peas and lilies.

Concealed in a bower of pampas grasses and palms on a landing half way up the stairs was an artificial moon, which when the lights were extinguished during several of the dances cast a soft glow over the garden below.

A stringed orchestra played behind a screen of palms, and supper was served at small tables at midnight.

Mrs. Reeside received her guests in an exquisite gown of turquoise blue chiffon velvet, trimmed with bands of opalescent embroidery, with the corsage entirely of tulle and opalescents and diamond ornaments.

Miss Gregory wore white satin and tulle, trimmed with tiny pink rosebuds. Miss Keasey's gown was of pale blue satin and lace.
